

Digitales Brandenburg

hosted by Universitätsbibliothek Potsdam

Beyond the letter of the law

Jacob, Walter

Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, [2004]

CONTRIBUTORS

urn:nbn:de:kobv:517-vlib-10650

CONTRIBUTORS

JACK COHEN has served on the faculty of the Jewish Theological Seminary, the Reconstructionist Rabbinic College, and the David Yellin College of Education as well as Rabbi of the Society for the Advancement of Judaism. He is the author of seven books, among them A Case for Religious Naturalism (1954), Jewish Education in a Democratic Society (1964), Guides for an Age of Confusion (1999), and Major Philosophies of Jewish Prayer in the Twentieth Century (2000). He and his wife reside in Israel.

JONATHAN COHEN is an Israeli-born scholar who directs the Center for the Study of Contemporary Moral Problems at the Hebrew Union College and as assistant professor of Talmud and Halakhic literature. He holds degrees from the University of Kent and the University of Liverpool. He has written on Jewish law and ethics.

DAVID ELLENSON is President of the Hebrew Union College–Jewish Institute of Religion and I. H. and Anna Grāncell Professor of Jewish Religious Thought at the Hebrew Union College–Jewish Institute of Religion, Los Angeles, California, on whose faculty he has been since 1979. He is the author of several hundred essays on Jewish thought and has contributed to a multi-volume commentary on the prayer book. His books include Tradition in Transition (1989), Rabbi Esriel Hildesheimer and the Creation of a Modern Jewish Orthodoxy (1990), and Between Tradition and Culture: The Dialectics of Modern Jewish Religion and Identity (1994).

DAVID GOLINKIN is the President of the Schechter Institute of Jewish Studies in Jerusalem where he also served as professor of Jewish law. He is the long-time chair of the Vaad Halakhah of the Rabbinic Assembly of Israel. He is the author or editor of eighteen books, including Responsa of the Va'ad Halakhah (1990), Halakhah for Our Time: A Conservative Approach (1992), The Responsa of Louis Ginzberg (1996), Rediscovering the Art of Jewish Prayer, The Status of Women in Jewish Law (1998).

PETER HAAS holds the Abba Hillel Silver Chair of Religious Studies at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland; previously he has held a professorship at Vanderbilt University. He is the author of Morality After Auschwitz (1988), Recovering the Role of Women: Power and Authority in Rabbinic Jewish Society (1992), and Responsa: A Literary History of the Genre (1996).

WALTER JACOB is Senior Scholar of Rodef Shalom Congregation, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. He is President and a professor at the Abraham Geiger College in Berlin/Potsdam, Past President of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, President of the Solomon B. Freehof Institute of Progressive Halakhah, and of the President Associated American Jewish Museums. He is the author and editor of thirty-one books, including Christianity through Jewish Eyes (1974), American Reform Responsa (1983), Liberal Judaism and Halakhah (1988), Questions and Reform Jewish Answers (1991), The Healing Past: Pharmaceuticals in the Biblical and Rabbinic World (1993), Not by Birth Alone: Conversion to Judaism (1997), Re-examining Progressive Halakhah (2002), Die Exegese hat das Erste Wort (2002), The Environment in Jewish Law (2003).

LOUIS JACOBS is a leading British rabbi and theologian and founder of the New West End Synagogue in London. He currently lectures at University College in London and at Lancaster University; he has taught at Jews' College. He is the author of numerous essays and more than twenty books, including Studies in Talmudic Logic and Methodology (1961), Faith (1968), A Jewish Theology (1973), Teyku – The Unsolved Problem in the Babylonian Talmud (1981), and The Talmudic Argument (1984).

PETER KNOBEL is rabbi of Beth Emet, Evanston, Illinois. He is chair of the Liturgy Committee of the Central Conference of American Rabbis and past president of the Chicago Board of Rabbis. He is the author of papers on assisted suicide, homosexuality, and spirituality among other subjects; he is editor of Gates of the Season (1983), Duties of the Soul: The Role of Commandments in Liberal Judaism (1999), and the new American Reform prayer book.

JOHN RAYNER is Distinguished Lecturer in Liturgy and Codes at the Leo Baeck College, London, and rabbi emeritus of the Liberal Synagogue in London. He is the author of Understanding Judaism (1996), A Jewish Understanding of the World (1997), Jewish Religious Law: A Progressive Perspective (1999), and many essays. He has been a major contributor to the creation of British and American liturgies.

DANIEL SCHIFF is the Community Scholar of the Jewish Education Institute in Pittsburgh. He is rabbi of Temple B'nai Israel in White Oak, Pennsylvania. Born in Australia, he was educated at the University of Melbourne and the Hebrew Union College–Jewish Institute of Religion from which he was ordained and received his doctorate. Daniel Schiff is the author of essays in halakhic books and journals and of Abortion in Judaism (2002), a study that deals with this question across denominational lines.

MARK WASHOFSKY is Associate Professor of Rabbinics, Hebrew Union College–Jewish Institute of Religion in Cincinnati, Ohio and chair of the Responsa Committee of the Central Conference of American Rabbis. He has published numerous studies in the field of Jewish law and legal theory. He is the editor of Teshuvot for the Nineties (1997), and author of Jewish Living and Practice (2000).